Industrial parks urged

POTENTIAL INDUSTRIAL CENTERS MADISON COUNTY

Future development of industrial parks in Madison County is most likely to take place at eight key locations, according to a research report issued today by the Illinois Metro East Industrial Development Corporation.

Identification of the eight potential industrial centers was the result of an intensive investigation supported by Illinois Metro East and conducted under the supervision of SIUE Associate Professor Robert L. Koepke.

Three of the future centers are located near the Quad Cities.

One is located west of Ill. Route 3 just south of Interstate 270.

Another is located along both sides of Ill. Route 3 just north of I-270.

The third is located along both sides of Ill. Route 111 just north of I-270.

Two potential centers were identified in the Collinsville, Edwardsville area. The largest of these two is a tract southeast of Edwardsville lying west of I-55 on both sides of I-270 from Ill. Route 162 north to the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad.

The second potential center lies northeast of Collinsville just north of I-55 and west of Ill. Route 157.

Three potential centers are located in the Alton-Wood River area. One is just north of the intersection of U.S. Highway 67 and Ill. Route 267 in Godfrey Township. Another is west of Wood River along Ill. Route 3 across from the Olin Corporation's brass mill, and the third is adjacent to and around the Civic Memorial Airport at Bethalto.

Richard H. Dykes, the corporation's executive director, said the study was undertaken primarily to aid in preparing for future industrial development in the county.

"While existing industrial and business parks such as those located in Madison, Highland, Edwardsville and Alton have been of real value in helping to meet the needs for quality industrial sites," he said, "the amount of available space is dwindling."

"We need to take steps now to insure that similar property will be available for use in the future."

All of these sites have real promise for industrial development, Dykes said.

"I don't think that there is another area in the entire county which offers so much attractive land for development located so near to the center of a major city."

Plans for development of one of these tracts are already under way.

Last April, the Civic Memorial Airport Authority announced its intent to develop a business park on authority-owned property at Bethalto. Initial site development is expected to begin within the next few months.

Lake park acquisition still slow

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Horseshoe Lake Park land acquisition is still "full steam ahead," but most of the available funds are tied up on condemnation proceedings and "not much is expected to happen the remainder of this year," Illinois Department of Conservation officials said in conflicting statements during the weekend.

The "full speed ahead" statement was made by Anthony T. "Tony" Dean, director of the conservation department, who said the department is anticipating completion of land acquisitions during the fiscal 1977 year, which starts in July 1976.

Robert Corrigan, supervisor of the department's division of land acquisition, agreed. But he said that of about $786,000 appropriated in this fiscal year, "A lot of it already is committed in the acreage in condemnation."

He continued, "Additional land acquisition this year probably will be minimal."

Dean said that about 60 percent of the parcels for the proposed park have been obtained and others are in condemnation proceedings.

He said a park of about 3,100 acres is planned, but could not estimate the number of acres now owned by the state.

"The proposed July 1974-June 1975 fiscal year budget sustained a $3 million cut for our department which has been spread equally to all our projects," Dean said.

Despite the cut, he added "fiscal 1975-76 is expected to make good inroads and the land acquisition is expected to be completed fiscal 1976-77."

He estimated the total acquisition cost at $4.5 million. Dean also said actual development of park facilities could begin in the next fiscal year on property already acquired.

"It is not necessary for us to have all of the property before we begin developing the park," he said. He conceded it may take several years after all land has been acquired before all present development plans have been completed.

Dean said he has been con-

Fatal crash

Elmer L. Nelson, 49, of 4416 Nameoki Road, died at 2:30 a.m. Saturday in St. Elizabeth Hospital from injuries suffered when his auto plunged at 1:10 a.m., front end first, off the McCambridge Avenue viaduct on Route 263, into the Cloverleaf subdivision area near a frontage road.

The Madison fire department and rescue squad were called to the scene to remove him from the car.

He was taken to the hospital by ambulance and arrived in the emergency room at 1:35 a.m. Saturday.

Mr. Nelson suffered fractures of the hip, pelvis, left leg and right wrist and multiple cuts and bruises.

The vehicle apparently had passed the superstructure heading south, or had not yet reached it while going north. It plunged about 40 feet off the east side of the viaduct and crashed into the ground.

Born in Conran, Mo., he had lived here for 14 years. Mr. Nelson was employed by Cahokia Heating and Cooling Co., where he repaired air-conditioning units.

He was a member of Masonic Lodge 835 and the Scottish Rite of Southern Illinois.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Billie Nelson; three daughters, Linda and Karen Nelson, and Anita Sanders, all of Granite City; two sons, Darrell and David Sanders, both of Granite City; three brothers, Raymond Nelson Jr.,

GC air better, but.....

Suspended particulate—finely divided particles that remain in the air for extended periods, and because of their small size are capable of bypassing the body's nasal defenses and being inhaled into the lungs—decreased markedly in the Granite City area during 1973.

So say the latest figures from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, compiled from data produced from local agencies, including the Granite City Air Pollution Control Office, GCAPO Technician Larry Canada noted today.

The seven "high-volume" air sampler stations operating in different locations within Granite City produced data which indicated a decrease of an average of 20 micrograms per cubic meter per station.

"This decrease, although significant and encouraging, has not, however, brought the suspended particulate matter level in Granite City to within the primary ambient standard of 75 micrograms per cubic meter—this being the desired maximum to thwart even the possibility of a public health hazard," Canada said.

"The major health effects of particulates, according to numerous studies, are related to temporary or permanent injury of the surfaces of the respiratory system."

"High particulate concentrations have been associated with increased mortality, acute worsening of chronic bronchitis patients, and increased respiratory illness in children. Adverse material effects of particulates include corrosion of metals, soiling of textiles and buildings, and damage to electrical equipment."

"The air in Granite City sampled by the Granite City Air Pollution Office was at an average in excess of 75 per cent more concentrated in suspended particulate than the U.S. EPA has deemed acceptable."

"Our air monitors showed suspended particulate with a range of between 82 and 302 micrograms per cubic meter, producing an arithmetic average of 126 micrograms per cubic meter per station,"

Canada related.

In other parameters, such as CO and SO<sub>2</sub>, Granite City is well within the acceptable level.

"Dust continues to be the major air contaminant in our area," he concluded.

Train fatality on Labor Day

Jeffrey Lynn Nunn, 21, of 3024 Davis Ave., was injured fatally in a truck-train accident at the Mockingbird Lane crossing, north of Route 162, at 1:35 p.m. Monday.

He was pronounced dead at the scene at 1:50 p.m. by Madison County Deputy Coroner Edward Werner.

Witnesses said the pickup truck Mr. Nunn was driving was northbound when the driver apparently noticed the train approaching and applied his brakes. The truck skidded 22 feet onto the tracks and the westbound Norfolk & Western train was said to have struck the right side of the truck.

The train was traveling about 50 miles-per-hour at the time and required 2,750 feet to stop, coming to a halt with about 50 of the 76 cars in the train having passed the crossing.

It was on the southern set of tracks at the crossing, it was reported.

The truck was thrown about 100 feet west of the point of impact, coming to rest on its wheels in the ditch south of the railroad tracks. Mr. Nunn was found outside the driver's door of the truck where he was believed thrown as the truck came to a halt.

He suffered multiple traumatic injuries, according to Werner, and was without signs of life when found.

A passenger in the truck, Charles Brodewy Jr., Charleston, Ill., was believed to have jumped out of the truck before impact and was not injured, according to Madison County sheriff's deputies.

Mr. Nunn was a lifelong resident of Granite City and a member of the First United Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Nunn was employed for three and a half years as a counter man at National Auto Supply Store.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Beverly Nunn; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James (Joan) Nunn; and a brother, Greg Nunn, all of Granite City.

Bulge in briefcase — $23,000

A Passaic, N.J., man was expected to go to court at Edwardsville today to try and recover $23,000 which police found in his briefcase after they stopped his car for a speeding violation on Pontoon Beach near Village Lane Saturday night.

Eugenio Santiago, 38, was arrested after police alleged finding a hypodermic syringe in his auto.

He was jailed, and when police were checking his property, they discovered the money in his briefcase.

Santiago posted $400 bond and was released on the hypodermic syringe possession charge. Police held his briefcase and the money as evidence in an investigation, it was learned.

Santiago was expected to go to court today to have a judge consider whether police have sufficient cause to hold the money as evidence pending completion of the investigation.

Matron of honor Mrs. John Heidemann, a sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Joseph Wiezer, a sister-in-law of the groom, Miss Susan Webb and Miss Pat O'Donnell, were identical dresses.

Their frocks were designed in similar style to the bride's gown only in lemon yellow. They wore yellow picture hats with long streamers trimmed with daisies. Each held a white wicker basket of yellow roses and daisies.

Sewer break apparent

An apparent sewer break at Jill and Wayne avenues was being inspected by city street department workers today in an effort to determine the extent of damage to the sanitary sewer line.

Lionel Portell, city street superintendent, said the area over the sewer line began caving in last week. The sunken area was packed and kept under observation during the weekend.

Portell said no further sinking was noticeable through Sunday, but that the area was being watched closely today.

"There's not much doubt in my mind that the sinking around the line is caused by a new break," Portell said.

The break apparently is located at the site of a sewer repair made by the Finis Ernest Contracting Co. of East St. Louis last November, Portell said.

Abel favors public jobs

I. W. Abel, president of the United Steelworkers of America, called during the Labor Day weekend for expanded public works and job programs as a means of overcoming unemployment and inflation.

He urged that President Gerald R. Ford support easing of credit and closing of business tax loopholes.

George Meany, president of the American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations, said an economic depression worse than the 1930s may be ahead unless the government controls prices with a massive new bureau.

Meany said public confidence could be partly restored if the U.S. acts to lower interest rates, finance new housing, allocate government funds for home mortgages and put more money into social programs.

Presidential Election Campaign Fund.

Nationally, taxpayers have designated $17,113,178 for 1973 and $8,893,286 for 1972, resulting in a total designation of $26,006,464 on 1973 tax returns.

Leon C. Green, IRS district director, is reminding taxpayers that it is not too late to designate $1 to the Campaign Fund.

"Even though taxpayers have already filed their 1973 tax returns and chosen not to make a $1 designation at that time, it can still be done by completing Form 5185, Presidential Election Campaign Fund Designation. Taxpayers who have not made a designation for 1972 may do so by completing Form 5185A."

Under legislation enacted by Congress in 1971, every taxpayer with a tax liability of $1 or more may designate $1 of his tax to the 1976 Campaign Fund if he wishes to do so. On a joint return, a husband and wife with an income tax liability of $2 or more may each designate $1.

Designation to the Campaign Fund will neither increase a tax liability nor reduce any refund due.

Taxpayers cannot specify a political party to receive the money they designate to the fund. Designation will be made from the fund to all eligible candidates based on a formula in the law.

cerned about complaints of vandalism and crime in areas already acquired by the state and said he called a meeting this week with the parks, law enforcement and engineering divisions to discuss the problem.

Several proposals were presented and are being considered, he disclosed.

Among them is tearing down houses and buildings on properties shortly after acquiring them, and possibly closing some roads near the lake.

"We discussed the problem and I have asked our people to come up with some hasty solutions," Dean commented.

Among sites still to be acquired are most of the property under the lake, a large portion of Listemann Island and the Alton & Southern Railroad right-of-way, officials said.

The railroad has appealed a condemnation decision to the Appellate Court and a lengthy court fight is anticipated.

"We do not want a railroad running through the middle of a big park, but it would be possible to open the park while we still are getting the railroad right-of-way," a department spokesman said.

Dean denied that changes in administration have caused action on the local park to be slowed.

"We are working with the same planning and engineering staffs today as before the state administration change and they are under the same orders, to keep full steam ahead on this project," Dean concluded.

Track faults blamed for rising railroad mishaps

Railroad safety should be a majority priority of the federal and state governments, Michael J. Howlett said last week. Secretary of State Howlett spoke at a regional dinner of the United Transportation Union. Delegates attending represented 27,000 railroad workers of Illinois and Wisconsin.

"Safe railroad transportation is essential to the economy of the United States," said Howlett. "This is especially true in Illinois, the railroad center of the nation."

"Illinois is served by 44 railroads, more than any other state in the union. We have 14,446 miles of track, second only to Texas, which has 15,087."

"In recent weeks, the newspapers have been full of railroad accident stories. Trains have been running off the track in Illinois at a rate of five a week.

"Although we have had a strong Federal Railroad Safety Act since 1970, train accidents have been rising."

"Last year, there were 9,396 train accidents in the U.S., an increase of 24 per cent from 1972. There were 1,913 persons killed."

"The number of railroad employees killed was 20 per cent higher than the year before."

"Figures for Illinois show how railroad safety has progressively worsened. In 1971, we had 107 derailments. In 1972, we had 117 and in 1973, we had 152. In just the first half of 1974, we already have had 135."

"About 52 per cent of the Illinois accidents were caused by track faults, about 28 per cent by defective equipment and the rest for other reasons, including 10 per cent for human error."

"What has been happening was brought forcibly to public attention by the $17 million explosion in Decatur July 19 when a string of tank cars with liquefied petroleum gas rolled into a standing boxcar."

"Seven railroad workers died. More than 100 were hurt."

"Your union had complained before the explosion about the nearness of a bunkhouse to the tracks in the railroad yard."

"The railroad workers who died had been sleeping in the bunkhouse, eating in the adjoining restaurant or standing around nearby."

"The Decatur disaster was similar to another in East St. Louis in January 1972, when a liquefied petroleum gas leak in a railroad yard caused a $7.2 million explosion which hurt 232 persons."

"Federal and state governments are moving to correct unsafe conditions."

"The U.S. Transportation

Department has ordered new shields installed on 18,000 tank cars used for highly flammable cargo. They are designed to prevent the cars from puncture in collisions."

"The state Commerce Commission has put a 10 miles per hour speed limit on track through Chicago's south suburbs which state inspectors found had a poor bed, with rotted cross-ties."

"The federal government has regulations for special handling of cars loaded with poison gas or high explosives. The state Commerce Commission has proposed to extend the regulations to other types of hazardous cargoes."

"The state commission has issued a new order, which is being contested in the courts. If it becomes effective, it will be the most stringent set of regulations of any state, more stringent than the federal regulations."

"It takes money—taxpayers' money—to pay government inspectors, make investigations and enforce government safety regulations. But if it takes money to make our railroads safe, the money must be spent."

"As a state officer for nearly 14 years, I've made my record on economy in government. But I don't believe in economizing to the point of danger."

"In deciding the priorities for expenditure of taxpayers' money, the safety of our railroads—and of their employees, their passengers and their freight—deserves high consideration," Howlett concluded.

Raises for part-time city street employees

Granite City's four part-time and summer workers in the street department have been granted raises of 36 cents per hour by order of the Granite City Council.

Wages of the summer workers were increased last week from $5.41 per hour to $5.77 per hour, retroactive to May 1.

Alderman Frank Greenwald of the Second Ward, chairman of the council's negotiating committee, explained that the workers receive no fringe benefits and said they deserve higher wages to move closer to the salaries of the city's full-time street department workers.

The part-time workers will receive lump sum back pay representing 36 cents for each hour worked from May 1 until now.

The council also authorized $31.20 in back pay to be distributed among all city workers who earned raises in new contracts. The money covers retroactive pay from May 1 to July 31.

The council considered a petition from Kiro and Milka Vasiloff to annex their lots in the Dream Villa Addition. The annexation request was referred to the City Planning Commission and assistant city attorney for study.

The aldermen were informed in a letter from the Illinois Commerce Commission that a request for rehearing on a rate increase for the East St. Louis and Interurban Water Co. had been denied, as had a petition by the Large Water Users Group.

The two groups were protesting a July 3 ICC decision increasing water rates but by a lower percentage than the water company had sought.

A petition signed by 15 residents of the 3300 and 3400 blocks of Franklin Avenue was read, telling of the hazard of speeding motorists at a curve in the road and seeking "prompt and serious investigation of the problem" and initiation of a solution.

The petition was referred to the aldermen of the ward and to the city engineer.

An excavation permit was granted to Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. to install an underground telephone line along the west side of State Street to serve the new Illinois Power Co. substation at 13th and State streets.

Permission was granted to the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation to conduct a door-to-door march of volunteers in the city Sept. 15 in conjunction with the Breath of Life Campaign in which funds will be solicited from shoppers.

The aldermen agreed to write to U.S. Cong. Wilbur Mills, supporting this efforts to have federal revenue sharing payments to cities, townships and other bodies extended from the 1976 cutoff date to 1978.

Mayor Paul Schuler said U.S. Cong. Melvin Price and U.S. Sen. Charles Percy had written him indicating they support continuation of revenue sharing, but with changes.

The council voted to sell an unused stencil maker and addressing machine to Marcrest Enterprises of Georgia.

A contract for a three-wheel enclosed motorcycle for use by the police department was awarded to Fox Vehicles, St. Louis, for $2,765. The firm was the only bidder.

The aldermen authorized advertising for bids for a new window van and radio unit for the fire department, which would replace a pickup truck and station wagon. The purchase has been budgeted from revenue sharing funds.

City Clerk Robert W. Stevens, who attended a conference in Chicago on funding for air pollution programs, reported that the city's grant for the Air Pollution Control Department has been reduced from $26,000 in the past fiscal year to $24,326 in the 1974-75 fiscal year.

Stevens added that incentive funds are available for special programs which could bring into the city an amount equivalent to that received last year.

The street and alley committee was instructed to consider removing parking meters along the northeast side of 20th Street between Niedringhaus Avenue and State Street.

Homemakers begin membership drive

Fresh flowers were used to decorate tables for the 1974-75 membership drive kickoff of the Madison County Homemakers Extension Association last week in the County Extension office at Edwardsville.

Second vice-chairman in charge of membership from 32 county units, district vice-chairmen and county HEA board members attended the opening program, which set a goal to boost extension membership from the present 1,100 to 1,200 women.

The Cooperative Extension Service offers programs in home economics and agriculture to interested persons, both rural and urban, regardless of race, color, or national origin as a service of the University of Illinois.

Mrs. Clifford Stahlhut, Edwardsville, membership chairman and Madison County second vice president, formally opened the membership drive for those attending and presided at the noon luncheon.

She introduced the theme for the drive, "Homemakers Grow and Share," and spoke on membership qualifications within units. Mrs. Stahlhut explained that units are competing for honors in obtaining the most new members from Sept. 1 to Oct. 31.

Winning unit membership chairmen will receive an all-expense trip to the Illinois Homemakers Extension Federation annual meeting in March at the University of Illinois campus in Urbana-Champaign. Units with six or more new members will be judged winner units.

She introduced Mrs. Udell Wehling, District 8 director of the federation, who spoke on how to make a membership drive succeed. In her comments, she also stressed the importance of keeping present members active.

Mrs. Stahlhut outlined opportunities afforded members, including: sponsorship of 4-H clubs, providing financial and other assistance; leadership development in offices held and in local members presenting lessons, and companionship with other women interested in education, homemaking skills and more.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Goetting appeared in an orchid chiffon gown designed with a V-neckline and long full sleeves. A cummerbund, centered with a rhinestone pin accented the slightly gathered skirt. She wore a lilac corsage and silver accessories.

Mrs. Bausch was attired in a pink lace dress designed in Empire style with a jewel neckline, long sleeves and an A-line skirt. She wore white accessories and a pink corsage. A reception was held at the Croatian Home in Madison. The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's mother, Mrs. Bausch.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Granite City High School. She is employed at the U.S. Army Audit Agency. Her husband is enrolled at Belleville Area College, majoring in electronics. He also works at Frank's Clark Station.

They are now residing in Granite City following a honeymoon in the Missouri Ozarks.

'Breath of Life' workers sought

For the sixth consecutive year, Mrs. James (Alma) Worthen, 2224 Aubrey Ave., will head the "Breath of Life" campaign in the Quad-City area to aid research and care for C-F, a test to detect carriers of the gene for C-F, and improved treatment for all lung-damaging diseases.

Evaluating the progress of the total NCFRF programs is not simple process, Mrs. Worthen said. One fact is certain, she pointed out, today 50 per cent of the patients with cystic fibrosis can expect to live beyond the age of 18.

When the foundation was founded in 1955, most children with C-F could not expect to live beyond infancy. Many children with the other lung-damaging diseases are benefiting from the care developed for cystic fibrosis patients. In many instances the other children can be cured.

In less than 20 years, the foundation has changed from a small group of dedicated parents to a nationwide network of chapters and branches devoted to the cause of those original founders. Today millions of people are involved and dedicated to the expanded goals of conquering all lung-damaging diseases. "We are very fortunate to have three C-F Care, Teaching and Research Centers in our area, Mrs. Worthen said. The centers serve residents in Southern Illinois and Eastern and Central Missouri and are located at St. Louis Children's Hospital, Cardinal Glennon Hospital and the University of Missouri Medical School at Columbia.

Volunteers willing to aid in the door-to-door drive are being asked to contact the chairman at 877-3578.

Donations also may be mailed to the First Granite City National Bank, 20th Street and Edison Avenue, or to Mrs. Worthen at the Aubrey Avenue address. Checks should be marked payable to National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation and they are tax deductible.

Soccer Warriors inexperienced —but won't be after Thursday

Warrior soccer mentor Gene Baker now views the almost new South squad as a well-balanced team that could go places—but "only one game at a time because of our having so many inexperienced players."

"The thing we lacked last year to go all the way," says Baker, "was balance."

"This year, we have developed into a smooth passing team but we lack some of the quickness and speed due to having only five returning lettermen."

Heading into this Thursday's contest at Alton, Baker has switched from last season's 4-4-2 system — four deepbacks, four mid-field and two forwards — to a 4-2-4 type attack.

With veteran goalie Keith Kibort, a senior, in the net, Baker has placed seniors Charlie Bennington and Dave Sheridan, a three-year letterman, in the forward striking positions.

The two forwards will be aided on both sides by varsity "rookies," Ricky Fernandez, a sophomore, and junior Stoyan Popovsky. Both are graduates of the Warrior jayvee squad. The two middle links are freshmen Mark Goldschmidt and Joe Theis.

The task of moving the ball out of the backfield has been delegated to senior Ronnie Goldschmidt, sophomores Mike Voegel and Rick Becherer, and junior Gerard Alvarado.

The soccer mentor has two seniors waiting in the wings who have never played for the Warrior squad.

Backing up Kibort as goalie is Mark Mason, and ready to fill in wherever needed is Teno Valencia.

"We need actual game experience badly," says Baker. "After our first three games on the schedule, we face two of the toughest teams in the state."

South travels northward Sept. 13 for a weekend of action with two Chicago area teams — New Trier West and Maine East — before taking on GCHS North Sept. 17.

coach; Keith Kibort, goalkeeper; Ron Goldschmidt, co-captain and center back; Charlie Bennington, forward; and Dave Sheridan, co-captain and forward. Last season, the Warriors were district and sectional champions and finished third in the state.

Rain again delays Labor Day tourney

Heavy rains this weekend again postponed the scheduled conclusion of the annual men's Labor Day softball tournament hosted by the Granite City Park District.

Wolfmeier, Gundaker win

St. Louisian John Wolfmeier, who had never captured a sportsman class feature race this season, extended his point lead Friday at Tri-City Speedway with a clean sweep to victory of every event he entered.

Kevin Gundaker, St. Louis, a rookie driver in the late model division, also posted his first win of the season.

Wolfmeier until Friday had jumped into and held the point lead by virtue of heat race wins and consistent strong finishes in feature races. On Friday, he captured his heat race, beat Granite Cityan Rod Bailey in the feature after starting in the 16th position, and then finished first in the special double-O event.

Gundaker twice took advantage of misfortunes that befell his division's point leader Len Gittimer, to post his first feature win.

Gittimer was running second behind Art Lynch of Cahokia when the two tangled and spun out in the eighth lap.

Eight laps later, Gittimer, who had to restart at the back of the pack after the mishap, worked his way through the pack to again take the lead. He yielded the number one spot to Gundaker on the next lap after losing a wheel in the first corner and pulling out of the race.

Other race victors were: late model — Gene Melloway, fastest qualifier 37.26 seconds; Gittimer, first heat race and handicap event; Bob Buchanan and Ken Spencer, heat races; C. C. Corbin, semi-event, and sportsman — Gary Barker, first heat race.

The weekly racing program at Tri-City Speedway will resume Friday at 7:30 p.m. with time trials. The first race will start at 8:30 p.m.

Practice run for Warrior harriers

Warrior harrier Coach Dick Harmon feels his 25-member team has been progressing well in pre-season practices.

"We held time trials Saturday on the 2.83 mile course at Wilson Park," he noted. The cross-country team will go at 4 p.m. today to Alton's Rock Spring Park to compete in a pre-season meet with some of that area's schools.

Mercer rainout

Heavy rains this weekend forced postponement of all Illinois Inter-City Baseball League competition. Mercer was to have played at Panama Sunday and then was to host East Alton yesterday. Definite plans for rescheduling of the contests have not yet been made.

The soccer Steelers of GCHS North will take to the school's new soccer field at 4 p.m. today against Alton to open the 1974 soccer season here.

Breckner and Dan Sedej and junior Greg Ely.

Young sharp in MHS grid drill

During a game-type scrimmage this weekend at the Trojan field which pitted a Green squad against a White squad, Madison High football players appeared to have partly overcome their fumbling ways of last season.

Joe Young, 5-foot-5, 165 pound halfback, totaled 72 yards rushing, tackled six opponents, and moved into the end zone three times on ground plays engineered by Quarterback Emmet Timmons. This helped the Green squad to a 19-6 victory.

Timmons, a 5-10 senior, completed one of five passes for 15 yards. He carried the ball five times and averaged eight yards a carry in rushing.

The scrimmage, representing two quarters of play, saw the Greens rush for 139 yards and eight first downs while committing two fumbles, one of which they recovered.

The Trojans open their season at home Saturday in a 2 p.m. contest with Wentzville, Mo.

Wounded train employe sues

John G. Miller has filed a suit seeking $50,000 from the Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis in the Madison County Circuit Court.

Miller alleges that on May 20, 1974, while employed as a switchman and while on a train of cars in St. Clair County, he was shot by unknown persons.

He charges the railroad with failure to furnish a safe place to work, failure to provide adequate protection, and failure to adequately protect windows of the engine which Miller was riding, so as to prevent penetration by bullets.

Club told of primitive tribe

Ted Fitzgerald, a Christian missionary for the past 15 years working with the Kuku Kuku tribe of New Guinea, was guest speaker at Thursday's meeting of the Breakfast Kwanis Club held at Charlie's Restaurant.

The tribe he is working with has 32,000 people. Fitzgerald and his wife have been teaching them to read and write from the New Testament.

He said the life expectancy has increased from 25 to 40 years due to introduction of some modern health practices.

The tribe members will name a child until the second birthday due to the high death rate among children.

New Guinea is the second largest island in the world and covers 189,000 square miles. There are 750 known tribes and a population of three million people.

The Kuku Kuku tribesmen are cannibals and many of the tribes on the island are headhunters.

Open warfare between tribes is common and many tribesmen look forward to tribal combat, Fitzgerald related.

He displayed primitive weapons, including clubs, bows, arrows and spears used by the Kuku Kuku tribe.

Coffee is the principal crop of the island and sweet potatoes, corn, tomatoes and greens make up the principal diet. The only meat, except among the cannibals, is an occasional wild pig.

The missionary showed a movie of tribal life.

Saying that government should "set the example" in fighting inflation, President Gerald R. Ford on Saturday ordered a two-month delay of a scheduled Oct. 1 pay raise for 2,100,000 servicemen and 1,400,000 federal civilian employees. He said the delay will cut federal spending $700 million this year.

Three buses with different interiors and exteriors will be shown to the public from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Thursday at Collinsville and Missouri Avenues, East St. Louis. Citizen preferences will help determine the design of 240 new buses being acquired by the Bi-State Transit System.

Wood River Supervisor Rodger Elbie on Friday praised Chief Circuit Judge Fred P. Gault and Circuit Judge John Gitchett for "doing a good job" but assailed other judges for allowing crime to increase through being absent often from courtrooms. Citing case dismissals and reductions, Elbie called for faster disposition of cases and conducting of more trials. "Judges spend too much time on golf courses and in trying to get laws changed to make their jobs easier," he said in urging that each judge file a monthly report of his court activity.

Long distance rates would rise by up to five cents on the initial three-minute charge, and the charge for installing a residential telephone would climb from $13 to $24.

The Southern Illinois University committee on board and executive officer relationships met at SIUE last week and decided to prepare proposed recommendations for review Sept. 18 in Carbondale. It is to submit its proposals by Sept. 30 to the SIUE board. Goal is to give the university autonomy for the two campuses under a single board.

August wet-but below normal

Despite heavy rainfall measuring 1.60 inches during the last few days of the month, precipitation in the Quad-City area during August totaled 2.82 inches, or .40 of an inch less than the August normal rainfall of 3.02 inches.

Weekend precipitation on Saturday night and Sunday morning (.31 of an inch) and on Monday afternoon and evening (.17 of an inch) measured another .48 of an inch to bring to 2.08 inches the total Quad-City rainfall during the past week.

The month-end rainfall in August included 1.15 of an inch recorded at 8 a.m. Aug. 28 for the previous 24 hours, and .45 of an inch recorded on Aug. 29 for the previous 24-hour period.

August rainfall included 32 of an inch on Aug. 3; 10 of an inch on Aug. 10; 18 of an inch Aug. 11; 20 of an inch Aug. 13; 66 of an inch Aug. 17; 1.15 inches on Aug. 28 and 45 of an inch Aug. 29. A trace of rain, which is precipitation in an amount too small to be recorded, was recorded on Aug. 2 and Aug. 25.

Although precipitation during August was below the month's normal fall, it was three times heavier than the .84 of an inch of rain recorded during the entire month of July.

Oriental belly dancing is to be taught here

An art form with built-in exercise is one apt description of belly dancing, according to the Tri-City Area YMCA. A class in Oriental dancing will be offered to women beginning Sept. 9.

"It is a unique experience which involves the whole body," explains Kay Jones. She is the instructor who has been teaching such dancing in the metropolitan area for many years.

"Belly dancing has become extremely popular as a form of exercise, although the esthetic benefits also have not been overlooked."

Classes in the ancient Oriental art will be offered on Monday evenings from 7:30 to 9. Registration is open now. More information is available at 875-7200 or the "W," 2001 Edison Ave.

Transactional Analysis among programs at Central Christian

Two widely-known psychologists and group workers will be among the speakers in the fall educational program at Central Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), 2020 Johnson Road, according to the pastor, Dr. L. Jim Anthis.

Leading one-day events for the congregation and public during the fall months will be the Rev. Dr. Muriel James of Lafayette, Calif., nationally known author and expert in Transactional Analysis (TA), and the Rev. Dr. Clyde Reid, director of The Center for New Beginnings in Denver, Colo.

The Sunday morning educational program, starting at 9:30, will feature three new academy-style courses and a continuing Biblical studies course.

Subjects in the new academy courses will include "New Forms of Prayer Life," to be taught by Dr. Anthis during the month of September; "New Styles of the Faithful," with the Rev. Russell Wigfield, campus minister of the United Campus Foundation at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, as instructor in October; and "Aging for All Ages," to be given by Dr. Anthis, also starting in October. Ed Lurton will serve as teacher for the Biblical studies course, "The Living God Seeks Man." Innovative concepts for youngsters in the church will be part of the Sunday morning children's program under the direction of Mrs. Dorotha Rivenburgh and Mrs. Judy Owens, the pastor announced. Central Christian's evening lay school again will feature two Transactional Analysis courses. The first will begin Thursday with "New Happenings in TA," and advanced course for persons having taken the introductory TA course, which looks at practical application of TA in such areas as depression, loneliness and interpersonal relationships.

The introductory TA course will be offered to the public, starting at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 15. Explored in the sessions will be the possibility that "person can be a true winner in life today by using the tools of Transactional Analysis," Dr. Anthis said.

TA courses are instructed by Dr. Anthis, who is a member of the International Transactional Analysis Association (ITAA). Central Christian Church programs are open to all area residents who are seeking new depths in their lives through the various courses being offered at the local church, the minister said.

Information concerning enrollment or other details may be obtained by calling Dr. Anthis at 876-0532.

MARRIED. Army Private and Mrs. Gregory Julian Connor, who were married at the Glenview Chapel Assembly of God. The bride is the former Miss Deborah Kay Hand, a daughter of Mrs. Joyce Ann Hand, 3801 B St., Pontoon Beach, and John Dale Hand, 1720 Kennedy Drive, Madison.

Connor-Hand nuptials at Glenview Chapel

Burning tapers in arch candelabra arranged with palms, large vases of mixed flowers and white satin bows on the pews provided the setting at the Glenview Chapel Assembly of God for the wedding on Aug. 24 of Miss Deborah Kay Hand and Army Private Gregory Julian Connor.

Officiating at the 6 o'clock evening ceremony was the Rev. M. W. Wilson. The organist, Mrs. Janice Reinhart, accompanied Miss Laura Gibbs, who sang "Melody of Love."

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Joyce Ann Hand, 3801 B St., Pontoon Beach, and John Dale Hand, 1720 Kennedy Drive, Madison. Parents of the groom are Donald Julian Connor, 202 McCambridge Ave., Madison, and Mrs. Ina Malcor of Graton, Ill.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Norman E. Moerlen, the bride selected a white double knit gown designed with a cowl neckline, and long tapered sleeves.

The slightly gathered A-line skirt had a wide border of white fur at the hemline; her elbow length tulle veil was held in place with a white fur pillbox headpiece.

She carried a cascade of baby tea roses, white Fuji spider mums and baby-breath, centered with a nosegay and trailing long pink streamers.

Preceding the bride down the aisle were Miss Rebecca Bogue, maid of honor; and Miss Cindy Connor, a sister of the groom, and Melody and Kimberly Hand, both sisters of the bride, bridesmaids.

The honor attendant wore a light green double knit halter style dress trimmed with wide cream colored lace at the flounced hemline.

Each of the bridesmaids chose a gown of a dainty design and colors in pink, green and blue. All carried bouquets of spring flowers.

The flower girls, Pamela Bott and Kelly Street, appeared in lavender and orchid frocks, respectively. Their dresses featured pink flower straps across the shoulders and box pleated skirts. Each carried a white basket of rose petals.

The bride's cousin, John Reinhart, served as ringbearer. Attending the groom as best man was Randy Pelch. Groomsmen and ushers included Mark Christopher

Japan study

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been awarded a $13,000 grant by the Japan Foundation to initiate a Japanese Studies program at the university.

Tetsuya Katoaka, associate professor of government at the university, said SIUE hopes to offer courses in Japanese language, Japanese government and possible Japanese language to promote understanding of Japan in this community as a whole.

The Japan Foundation was established two years ago primarily to foster and strengthen understanding of Japan in American universities as well as American society at large.

One course in Japanese Studies, a seminar in international relations, will be offered at SIUE this fall. The graduate level course deals with American foreign relations with Asia, from the turn of the century to the present.

More courses will be introduced during the winter quarter. Additional information is available from the Government and Public Affairs department at the university.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES PLESE, whose wedding was solemnized at St. Francis of Assisi Catholic Church, Shaw, Miss. The bride is the former Miss Patricia Ann Canonici, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Canonici of Shaw. The groom is formerly of Granite City.

Plese-Canonici wedding in Shaw, Mississippi

An out-of-town wedding of interest here was that of Miss Patricia Ann Canonici and Charles Francis Pleser Jr., both of Columbia, S. C., taking place Aug. 16 at St. Francis of Assisi Catholic Church in Shaw, Miss. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Canonici of Shaw, Miss. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Pleser Sr., 2750 Grand Ave.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony at 7 o'clock in the evening was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Paul V. Canonici, an uncle of the bride.

Nuptial selections "Ode to Joy," "Let There Be Peace on Earth," "Colour My World," "Amazing Grace," "Love Theme from The Godfather" and "Ave Maria," were played by organist Mrs. C. P. Parker. For her wedding, the former Miss Canonici chose a gown of silk organza. An organza ruffe edged the V-neckline, extending to the Empire waist.

Cluny lace banded the neckline and the long fitted sleeves were cuffed with a wide ruffe. The semi-full skirt was accented with lace motifs, applied at random, and a deep gathered flounce at the hemline was created of ruffles. She wore a lovely length veil bordered with Cluny lace motifs and she carried a small bouquet of summer blossoms.

Maid of honor Miss Elizabeth Canonici and bridesmaid Mrs. Donald Tedford, both sisters of the bride, wore identically styled dresses. Their full length halter gowns were fashioned of floral print and complemented with long sleeve jackets of jersey. Each wore a wide brim summer hat with matching streamers and held long, stemmed white carnations with greenery.

Gregory Hoff served as best man and Shiu Wong was groomsmen. David and Johnny Canonici, brothers of the bride, seated the guests.

Immediately following the ceremony, guests attended a reception in the home of the bride's parents.

The rehearsal dinner was served to members of the bridal party at the Colonial Inn Restaurant in Cleveland, Miss. After a wedding trip along the eastern coast of the United States, the couple will reside in Columbia, S. C.

The bride is a graduate of Shaw High School and Delta State College. She is listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities as a faculty scholar. She is a graduate assistant in the Department of Chemistry at University of South Carolina.

Her husband graduated from Granite City High School, St. Louis University and the Medical College of Georgia, where he received his master's degree in bio-chemistry. He also is a graduate assistant at University of South Carolina.

MRS. STEPHEN HAYDEN, the former Miss Carolyn Elaine Hull, who was married Saturday evening at the Madison United Presbyterian Church. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hull, 2504 Edwards St.

Miss Carolyn Hull and Stephen Hayden are wed

Miss Carolyn Elaine Hull, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hull, 2504 Edwards St., and Stephen Lee Hayden, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Chrusciel, 2515 E. 24th St., were married Saturday evening at the Madison United Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Frank Christ performed the double ring ceremony at 7 o'clock. Linda Bonatt presided at the organ and played "Love Story," "We've Only Just Begun" and "Greensleeves."

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception held in the church hall immediately following the service.

Mr. Hull escorted his daughter down the white carpeted aisle and gave her in marriage. She wore a full length gown of Chantilly lace lavishly encrusted with sequins.

Fashioned with a lace collar and long tapered lace sleeves, accented at the wrist with tiny satin bows, her dress had tiers of bejeweled lace creating the bouffant skirt and cathedral train.

A Juliet headpiece, etched with pearls and sequins, secured her lace-edged shoulder length veil. She held a teardrop bouquet of pink and white carnations and baby breath, festooned with long satin streamers.

The honor attendant, Martha Wiser, an aunt of the bride, and bridesmaids, Melinda Hull, a cousin of the bride, and Lorrie Hull, the bride's sister, wore identically styled, pink gowns. Their Empire design dresses were enhanced with white lace on the collars and short sleeves. Pink nylon knit headpieces were trimmed with pink tulle of the valley and streamers and each attendant held two red roses tied with matching ribbons.

Laura Gann, the bride's cousin, served as flower girl. She was dressed in a long frock of pink tulle, trimmed with lace and floral braid. She wore a pink headband of flowers and she carried a basket of red rose petals.

Walter Chrusciel, a brother of the groom, was the ringbearer. The groom chose Raymond Robinson-James as best man. The bride's cousin, served as flower girl. She was dressed in a long frock of pink tulle, trimmed with lace and floral braid. She wore a pink headband of flowers and she carried a basket of red rose petals.

Walter Chrusciel, a brother of the groom, was the ringbearer. The groom chose Raymond Robinson-James as best man.

The engagement of Miss Pamela James and Russell D. Robinson Jr., is being announced.

Miss James is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Shaw, 1624 Wellington Drive. She is now employed at Hickman Williams and Co., St. Louis.

Her fiancé is the son of Mrs. Joyce Keith and Russell D. Robinson Sr., both of Granite City, and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Brown, 2386 Lynch Ave. He is an employee of Granite City Steel.

Both Miss James and her fiancé are graduates of Granite City High School. Wedding plans are indefinite at the present time.

Jayceettes aid Cancer Crusade

Joe Lucido of Granite City 1974 Cancer Crusade chairman for the Quad-City area, has turned over a check for $34 to Mrs. Ruth Wilderman, executive director of the Madison County Unit, American Cancer Society. Lucido said the money was raised by Mrs. Randall Hill and Mrs. Thomas Holgrave, members of the Granite City Jayceettes, who purchased several handmade stuffed "frogs" from a former cancer patient to help her meet some of her medical expenses.

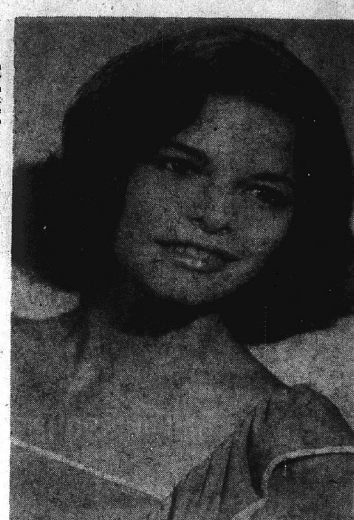

The Jayceettes resold the stuffed toys as a "special event" project and donated the proceeds to the Cancer Crusade, Lucido explained. A strong supporter of the Cancer Society and its work, the woman who made the frogs has since died. "She felt very fortunate to have been given the gift of a prolonged life due to drastic surgery for cancer, and really believed in the American Cancer Society and the good work it is doing for cancer patients," the local Crusade chairman said.

'TRUCKSMOKE' Trooper and truckers play highway hide-and-seek

By TOBY McDANIEL

The next hit series on television could well be based on the speed war between truckers and Illinois State Police.

Call the show "Truck-smoke."

First episode could be pegged on a cat-and-mouse game that one trooper played with truck drivers on a congested highway not long ago, and we offer the following monitorings from citizen band radio as script material.

It was four o'clock in the morning.

"We've got Smokey roving in a plain gold wrapper in the northbound," one trooper announced over his CB radio less than five minutes after a trooper took to the highway.

"(Smokey) is trucker talk for 'trooper' and 'plain gold wrapper' denotes 'unmarked squad car.'"

Anti-speed limit messages are coded and truckers are careful not to identify their rigs or exact location.

The trooper made a U-turn and headed south.

"Plain gold wrapper now southbound," the CB cracked.

The trooper pulled off near a grain elevator and parked out of sight of the southbound lanes.

"Smokey is sitting behind an elevator just north of Hicksville," another trucker warned over the airwaves.

Minutes later, the trooper headed south again.

"There's a hungry bear out this morning and he's coming up fast in the southbound," another trucker blurted. "I hope everyone is holding a firm five-five."

(A hungry bear is a cop eager to write a speeding ticket.)

Several others responded, confirming they were running within the speed limit.

The trooper moved up the passing lane and approached five leader of a five-truck convoy.

"A hungry bear's coming up behind you," the lead trucker was warned.

"Yes, I have him," the trucker replied. "I think I've got someone at the front door."

(That's trucker talk indicating a second squad car is waiting ahead as part of a road trap. When a radar car is pinpointed, truckers broadcast "Smokey" in taking pictures" at a particular location.)

The trooper pulled ahead of the convoy, then parked off the highway in front of two trucks taking a sleep break.

"Smokey in that plain gold wrapper is just off the highway before the bridge," the first passing trucker radioed to his buddies.

Again the trooper headed back north.

"Smokey is sitting at the first spotlight in the northbound."

The trooper criss-crossed across roads and set up shop again.

"Smokey's at the first spotlight in the southbound."

Another U-turn and northbound again.

"Smokey's roving. The plain gold wrapper sure is coming up behind you, a lot," a trucker messaged.

That's the way it went for more than two hours. Not a single pickup for the trooper. But, his maneuvering was enough to keep a lot of trucks at 55 m.p.h. for awhile.

3-LETTERS License plates play name game

By MARY LOU MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — They've added KIM, VIC, IKE and EVE. And there's HAL, GWS and SID, not to mention OWL and RHP.

That's three-alpha license plates were talking about, and they're fast becoming the newest status symbols in state government.

The practice, begun early this year, was instigated by Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett. The initial list of 800 combinations was recently updated by over 2,000 combinations.

"In an effort to include more selection for the public, the three-letter combinations will be manufactured in digits from only 1 through 50 following the prefix," explained a spokesman for Howlett's office. For example, it is possible to have GIL or GIL 100 or COP 6 or COP 39.

The previous issuance of three-alpha plates, which may be retained if applied for by Sept. 30, were printed in lots of 100, 500 and 1,000.

"We will be unable to tell which of the previously issued combinations are available for 1975 and the reassignment deadline is over." All new combinations are available.

Personal names ranked high in the list of those requested for 1974. Some of the more prevalent include: BEN, BOB, DAVE, JACK, JIM, JON, RAY, TIM, TOM, ERV, BEV, ANN, BEA, NAN and SUE. They are joined by such new ones as DOT, EVA, DEB, DEE, GUY, JUD, MAT and ROD.

Other sports fans, PGA (Professional Golfers Association) has joined CUB, NBA (National Basketball Association) and NFL (National Football League).

Then there's the businesses: UAL (United Air Lines), CAT (Caterpillar Tractor), DDS (order of dental surgery), CBS, WGN (Chicago radio-TV station) and CMC (Chicago Motor Club) plus these new ones: IBM, IGA, RGA and GMC (General Motors Corp.).

LAD, MOM, SIS, POP, SON, GAL and LAD are new. So are HIS, HIM, HER and OUR.

And how would you like the whole world to see you tagged BAD, SAD, BUM, FAT, BUG, HOT, HOT, HOT or SAG?

Universities were well represented on the initial list: SIU (Southern Illinois University), UIUC (University of Illinois), UIW (Western Illinois), UIO (University of Illinois) and UIA (University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign).

Organizations received the following: VFW (Veterans of Foreign War), AFL (American Federation of Labor), ELK, FOE (Fraternal Order of Eagles), ABA (American Bar Association), CBT (Chicago Board of Trade), UCT (United Commercial Travelers), PNA (Polish National Alliance) and KOC (Knights of Columbus).

Most of the balance of combinations are initials.

Plates for 1975 will be black letter on a white background in honor of the Caterpillar Tractor Co.'s 50th anniversary in Illinois.

ENVIRONMENTAL WARNING Coal gasification may be hazardous to health

By JOAN MURARO

SPRINGFIELD — Though many fields are in short supply, Illinois coal is abundant, so conversion of high sulfur coal to environmentally acceptable gas is being touted by many as the way to go. Private and government research into the many possible processes available have been under way for some time, and Gov. Daniel Walker recently made headlines announcing the state would seek location in Illinois of federal research facilities into coal gasification.

Now, complications have arisen. The Illinois Institute for Environmental Quality, through its Environmental Health Resource Center, is warning that coal gasification may be hazardous to your health — at least if you live anywhere near the gasification plant.

Until now, the chief consideration in locating possible plants was availability of coal and abundance of water — a 250 million cubic feet per day plant would use an estimated 10,000 to 20,000 gallons per minute, with more up to 100,000 gallons a minute needed for cooling and other requirements.

Now, warns the EHRC, site decisions had better also take into consideration how many high-risk individuals live in the area — persons with respiratory ailments, the elderly, those with liver, kidney or neurological disorders, children, asthmatics, tobacco smokers, and those with peripheral lung ailments.

If that doesn't cover most of the population anyway, the EHRC adds that if enough of the by-products of coal gasification are released, all human exposed will be affected.

The dangers, according to the EHRC, range from risk of explosion, dangerous position of enormous quantities of water, production of large numbers of toxic aromatic compounds which can cause kidney or liver damage, corrosion on the skin and mucous membranes, to generation of highly toxic substances which have the same consequences as burning the unconverted coal.

Use of Illinois coal is banned in the first place in areas with high air pollution readings because of the presence of trace metals and other objectionable substances. Gasification produces a fuel with a much lower pollution potential than the coal from which it is derived, but the materials removed are merely diverted, not destroyed.

Substances such as mercury, lead, cadmium, beryllium, vanadium, arsenic, nickel and chromium, the EHRC warns, are still present in the process, waste and unless care is exercised, they may enter the air, water or solid waste exit streams.

Further, large amounts of catalyst are required, according to the EHRC, and nickel is one often used, which may pose a health hazard by loss of the metal through catalyst degradation.

The water used in the gasification process may become "badly fouled with pollutants," the Council says, so return of the nonconsumed water will need careful attention to removal of these substances. Much of the water will be captured, so the environmental consequences of permanently removing this large volume of water from natural resources must also be considered, it is urged.

Over-all, the council urges that "wise site planning, process and plant design and operation" be followed to avoid creating health risks to people exposed to the gasification wastes, and adds that "pre-planning of this type will remove the necessity for future crises-oriented remedial programs to protect the public health."

ANALYSIS Political fund raising is difficult

By AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — Political fund-raising difficulties have forced the retirement of Kenneth Blood as the assistant director of the United Republican Fund.

Blood served as the domestic director for the URF, the money-raising arm of the state Republican Party.

"There is a lot of competition for the dollar nowadays," said URF executive Richard Nowinski of Chicago. "The United Republican Fund is doing better this year than last, but political fund-raising has been through a very difficult year."

Nowinski, of course, has damaged the fund-raising efforts of both parties, the Republicans in particular.

And the competition for the campaign dollar is stronger than it used to be. For example, Nowinski said one rather small Republican contributor was besieged in 1972 by 36 different candidates and organizations wanting money.

Blood's position, as you might expect, is that the two-party system should be strengthened. He said he urges people to contribute to the party first, and then to the individual candidates that they might also want to help.

Political parties are declining in influence, however, as fewer people are willing to be identified as either a Republican or Democrat. Thus, they are more likely to give to the individual candidates and not support the entire ticket.

Now, the Republican national committee, the Congressional committee, the Senate committee, the House committee and the individual candidates who are all seeking the political dollar.

Blood has been a valued employee of the URF who will still be available for special projects.

Blood has been associated with the organization since 1964. Prior to that he served nine years as assistant personal director and assistant to the late Sec. of State Charles Carpenter.

James Norris has resigned as assistant superintendent for Budget and Management Services in the State School Supt. Michael Bakalis.

Norris said he will stay in the management consultant business and possibly set up his own business. The resignation is effective Sept. 1.

He joined state government in 1966 as superintendent of the management information division of the Department of Finance, a key data-processing position.

He also worked in the Bureau of the Budget and the Department of Public Aid before joining Bakalis as a top aide in 1972.

DEADLY BEAUTIES What you don't know about plants can kill you

By PAM ROBERTS

Do you know that it's safe to cook and eat rhubarb stock but dangerous to use the blades?

Do you or your children own bracelets or other pieces of jewelry made of red and black pecanary beans? A single seed has enough poison to kill a human.

Do you know it's a myth that if animals or birds eat berries they're safe for humans?

In this day of health-food fads, many persons are looking to natural foods for daily nutrition.

Vegetables, flowers and herbs are among the favorites.

What many people don't realize is that some of these foods, especially if eaten in large quantities, may be hazardous.

Among the 300,000 species of plants on earth, more than 700 have caused death or serious illness in man or animals. Several hundred are found in the United States — in the wild and in backyard gardens.

Dr. Frank A. Crane, a professor in the University of Illinois college of pharmacy in Chicago, grows poisonous plants. He does it deliberately.

These pretty poisons are cultivated at the university's experiment station in Downers Grove along with plants which may yield helpful drugs.

Researchers for the project are interested in determining which compounds in plants are toxic and how much is necessary to cause illness or death in humans and animals.

Potato plants, for example, contain a toxic alkaloid called solanine which is violently toxic. When eaten in large amounts it first causes irritation and injury of the digestive tract. Then it is absorbed through the injured tissue to the bloodstream, where it causes mild to severe symptoms of the nervous system.

The vine of the plant has killed much livestock. The potato plant (the part which we eat) have been known to result in human death.

The solanine alkaloid is present in tubers but the normal content is only one tenth the amount necessary to produce serious symptoms.

The layer next to the skin of the potato usually contains most of the solanine. Areas which appear green such as sunburned spots contain the largest amount of the molecule.

To prevent any chance the poison might enter the body, the spots and sprouts should be peeled off the potato before cooking. The skins of the vegetable are harmless if eaten in normal quantities.

Another popular food which has high toxicity is apples. The poisonous chemical is HCN (prussic acid or cyanide) and is in the seed of the fruit.

Medical records include the case of a woman who ate applesauce a delicacy. He saved the seeds until he had a cupful and then devoured them. And died soon afterward.

The same poisonous chemical is found in the bark, leaves and pits of cherries, peaches, apricots and some varieties of almonds. The chemical is harmless, however, if eaten in small amounts.

Some types of philodendron and dieffenbachia, caladium and elephant's ear cause intense burning and irritations of the mouth, tongue and lips.

Jim Schaefer, a grower and manager of the garden department at a greenhouse in Montgomery, suggests it would be most helpful if parents knew what kind of plants they have in their house and garden and warn their children to stay away from harmful varieties.

Louis Gdalmann, director of the poison control center at St. Joseph's Hospital, Medical Center in Chicago, said one of the problems in treating children who have eaten poisonous plants is that parents do not know the name of the plant.

Often the child's stomach is pumped out, but the poison is still in the blood.

The Illinois Department of Public Health reports that of the 7,876 cases of accidental poisoning reported by poison control centers in the state, 22 involved plant ingestion.

Several of those persons were hospitalized but no deaths were recorded.

Plants rank fourth nationally among things accidentally swallowed by children. They follow aspirin, vitamins and household preparations.

Several dangerous varieties of flowers include poinsettias, daphne, lily of the valley, iris and yellow or Carolina jessamine.

The poinsettia is a type of spurge and is a common ornamental plant. Years ago a plant was considered extremely deadly.

Recent studies, however, have shown that poinsettias grown today do not contain the poisonous toxic used to it. Its caustic plant juices can, however, inflame tissues of the digestive tract if enough is ingested.

Daphne, as lovely as it sounds, can be deadly. It, too, is a common ornamental plant. A few leaves of one to three feet tall.

The flowers of the plant form small red berries which are attractive to children. They contain a strongly irritant glycoside which can cause burning or ulceration in the digestive tract.

Lilies of the valley are popular in backyard gardens and in floral arrangements. They contain cardioactive glycosides and can be poisonous, even if eaten in small amounts.

Wild and cultivated irises have irritant substances in the leaves and in the fleshy underground rhizome. Severe digestive upset can result following ingestion of moderate amounts.

According to John M. Kingsbury, associate professor of botany at the New York State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, some children have been poisoned by sucking nectar from the trumpet-shaped flowers of the yellow or Carolina jessamine plant. The nectar contains alkaloids related to strychnine.

Honey bees have been poisoned by the nectar, along with the honey they produce.

During summer, when flowers and plants are flourishing, parents should be concerned about bright-colored varieties which are attractive to children.

But they also should realize that some of the plants are harmful unless consumed in large quantities.

MOTORWAYS Air bag safety being pushed

By FRANK MACOMBER

The automobile industry, for one, is doing everything it can to make sure the environmentalists and highway safety advocates have become vocal in the last few years, now coming up on another knuckle-whitener — the controversial air bag as a safety device.

Air bags could be a major safety development of the future, auto makers concede. But research and development is not far enough along for the government to require their installation, the car makers have advised federal officials.

The big four U.S. manufacturers told the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) that at least three additional years will be needed to meet the requirements for passive restraint systems. Yet regulations require that air bags be installed on cars sold after Sept. 1, 1976 (the 1977 model year).

(Washington, the House has voted to void regulations requiring new cars to have seat belt interlock systems, buzzers or air bags. But a Senate bill leaves untouched the present air bag and interlock rules. The Senate bill must be resolved in a House-Senate conference.)

Industry spokesmen make the point that air bag performance under "real life" conditions is an unknown. Of 1,750 air bag-equipped cars on the road, only a couple of dozen have been deployed in accidents. In these, there were two deaths and one severe injury.

Moreover, all air bag experience and most of the full-scale crash tests have been with full-size cars. Little is known about their effectiveness in small or minicars.

Complicating these unknowns is the fact that passive restraint requirements could block current industry projects to improve lap and shoulder belts.

And, of course, the air bags would add another $200 to the price of a car — without any profit to the makers — industry spokesmen warn. Emission control devices and belts already have helped to tack from $200 to $400 on the price of a new car.

The federal safety standard (208) fails to define what form of passive restraint system must be on 1977 model cars. However, the air bag is the only system presently capable of fully meeting the requirement anytime in the future. (Passive restraint means no effort is necessary to activate the device, such as buckling a seat belt.)

The air bag has been under development by several auto makers for several years — long enough, the government believes, to have been perfected by now. It consists of one or more large inflatable air bags installed in the instrument panel of cars to protect front seat passengers in crashes.

On impact, a sensor located in the front of the car causes gas under high pressure to be discharged into the bag at extremely high velocity. In less than half a second the bag inflates, cushions the occupant from impact with the car's interior surfaces, then deflates.

Controversy has hounded the air bag system ever since it was proposed. Advocates support it as a significant step ahead to reduce death and injury on the nation's highways partly because so many millions of Americans refuse to fasten their seat belts or shoulder harnesses.

Critics, however, submit evidence that the air bag may not provide the best possible way to cut deaths and injuries. They point out that while the system is effective against impact, it offers virtually no protection in side impacts, rollovers and secondary collisions. About a fourth of all accidents involve side impacts or rollovers.

THE WORLD OF MUSIC Album captures Marvin's magic

By ROBIN WELLES

Live albums are either very good or very bad. To have a live album that is as good as the studio album is to beat his or her peak and must get the most out of the technology behind the microphone and reproduce not only the music and the screams but the magic of the moment.

"Marvin Live" is what the Tamala (Motown) label, isn't a good live album; it is a great one.

Recorded live in the Oakland Coliseum while Marvin was driving an SRO crowd crazy, this LP captures the soul, the magic of one of the most durable and talented performers in popular music. Side One contains the magic opening minutes of Gaye's Oakland Concert. Side Two picks up a little later in the festival when Gaye shines with his "Fossil Medley" which features some of his early monster hits such as "I'll Be Begone," "Can't Get a Witness," and others.

On an album of this caliber it is difficult to say that two or three cuts are better than the others but "Inner City Blues" and "What's Goin' On" do quality along with ... and ... and ...

Sometimes a woman just has to make it on her own. This is what Marvin does in this time without the Vandalas, has done and does well, judging from her debut album for the Tamala label, "Martha Reeves."

Ms. Reeves shows great versatility throughout the album by singing a variety of songs ranging from gospel, to Motown sound, to funk rock to easy ballads. Her voice seems somehow stronger and there's an earthy, sensual quality about it. When she sings, "Honey, I'm yours ... You've got power in your kiss," you just gotta believe it.

Producer Richard Perry has matched Ms. Reeves considerable talents with some impressive studio musicians and some excellent backup vocalists. The combination makes this an impressive and very tight album for Ms. Reeves.

Sly and the Family Stone celebrated Sly's marriage by recording one of their most consistent albums yet. "Small Talk" on the Epic label is a pleasant blend of incredibly good funky music and touching ballads. Most of the songs have catchy hooks, all are well arranged and all feature the distinctive Sly vocals mixed well with the rest of the Family.

There's not really much new in the way of presentation with the exception of new video on Sly Page. But Sly and the Family Stone have proven consistently over the years that their brand of music is a need constant change to keep them on top. Their music is real and it's good, no matter how often you hear it. As the title suggests, small talk is scattered throughout the album and is relaxed and refreshing.

Lovers of rock with a Latin beat will find "Sapo" by Sapo on Bell Records something to chime about. Following in the footsteps of such other successful Latin rock groups as El Chicano, Santana, and Maná, Sapo has done some heavy tricks of its own. The sextet shows off its talents on "Sapo" with a variety of styles as well as a couple of instrumental cuts which feature excellent solos on piano, guitar and drums. Sly's vocal efforts blend well with its music, all of which has been composed by members of the group. Sly is backed up by an excellent brass section. Best cuts include "Ritmo de Corazon" (an instrumental), "Sapo," "Sapo," "Sapo," and "Sapo's Montuno."

ILLINOIS' OUTDOOR HERITAGE

BOX ELDER (Acer negundo)

The box elder, or ash-leaved maple as it is sometimes called, is found in abundance throughout Illinois, thriving generally in moist wooded areas. It is sometimes planted for shade because in good soil it attains rapid growth. A medium tree, growing up to 60 feet with a wide-spreading crown, the trunk has a diameter of up to four feet. The tree has green sometimes glaucous twigs and paired fruits, which are winged and similar in appearance to maple, but smaller. The wood is lightweight, soft, and close-grained, and is used for paper pulp, interior finishing and in furniture. The largest box elder in Illinois is found in White Pine State Park in Ogle County. Although the height is not recorded, the tree has a trunk circumference of 14 feet, one inch.

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has declined a gift of a great dome for the proposed donation by the Union Tank Car Co. of its geodesic dome located at Wood River to the university.

Rendleman said SIUE would have "major difficulties in funding renovations, including heating and cooling, as well as the substantial expense of operating and maintenance for a facility of this magnitude. The conclusion, therefore, is that we cannot make the dome a viable facility for our campus."

The SIUE president said the university is "most appreciative" of the gift offer but deeply regrets that budget problems prohibit acceptance.

Illinois Democrats eye Chicago outlook

The Statehouse is keeping a long distance watch on Chicago for the Big Man who last there.

Mayor Richard J. Daley's long absence from City Hall has strengthened speculation that one of the most colorful careers in American politics may be approaching its end. This could have direct and immediate repercussions on politics in Illinois.

Daley, 72, suffered a minor stroke on May 6 and underwent surgery June 2. Since then he has spent about all of his time at his summer home in Grand Beach, Mich. He plans to return to his office next week.

Although those who have talked to the mayor, mostly by telephone, describe him as cheerful and apparently in good health, doubts have been growing in Chicago and Illinois political circles that he will run for a sixth consecutive term as mayor next year.

There has been some speculation that Daley might forego the mayor's race, but hold onto his twin political post as Cook County Democratic chairman and try to name his successor as mayor.

But there is a feeling that if Daley gives up the mayoralty, his political power will go with it.

An abdication by Daley as political boss could not come at a worse time for Illinois Democrats. The party is splintered to an unprecedented degree.

There is the regular organization headed by Daley with his protégé, John Touhy, as state chairman. There is the independent faction headed by Dan Wadsworth, state senator, ministered through his top aide, deputy to the governor Victor DeGracia.

Within the city of Chicago there is a young liberal bloc headed by Alderman William Singer, already announced as a candidate for mayor regardless of what Daley does. And there is a black faction of growing strength, which already has one announced candidate for mayor in lawyer E. Duke McNeil.

A Daley withdrawal from the mayoralty picture would undoubtedly precipitate a bitter Democratic primary fight and, perhaps, open the way for election of a Republican mayor in Chicago for the first time in more than 40 years.

This would almost certainly be U. S. Attorney James Thompson, who has become a household word in Chicago through his successful prosecution of a number of prominent political figures, including former Governor Otto Kerner and former Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett.

There is a widespread belief in Illinois politics that if Daley doesn't run, he would designate current Sec. of State Michael J. Howlett as his heir. The consensus is that Howlett would win only the primary, but might have trouble unifying Chicago Democrats and beating Howlett in the general election.

But if Howlett did run for mayor, he would have to renege on his promise to appoint his own man to that office, thereby immediately strengthening his independent faction in relation to the Daley-Touhy regulars.

But it is possible Daley would set a higher priority on having his own man succeed him as mayor than he would on strengthening Walker's political power.

A compromise for mayor might be Daley's former assistant, Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan.

But professional politicians say that Hartigan would be a risky gamble as to potential GOP foe as Thompson. Odds would be much more favorable for Howlett.

Statehouse Republicans are optimistic that a bruising Chicago battle for mayor in 1975 would leave the party so divided statewide that election of a governor and secretary of state in 1976 would be virtually certain.

The Madison Board of Education and the school district's 17 custodians reached a working agreement at a special meeting of the board Thursday evening.

Custodial wages were raised 20 cents per hour, bringing the hourly rate to $4.40.

The custodians may earn up to an additional $280 a year in unused sick pay. The board increased insurance payments made by the district from $15 to $18.86 per month and approved an additional $46.32 per year for hospital insurance.

The board hired Mrs. Irene Macko as a part-time cook at Harris School.

Supt. John Palchiff was asked to make a study on the cost of a high school golf program and on golf interest among students, for consideration prior to the 1975-76 school year.
